Bawdy, Campy Musical Review Takes Audiences to 1930s Hollywood

LONG BEACH, January 27, 2011 – Back by popular demand, SCC (<http://www.SCCsingers.com>) presents "Hollywood Hullabaloo 3: A Space Oddity," the third installment of the popular SCC franchise, on Saturday, March 19, 2011, at 8:00 p.m., and again on Sunday, March 20, 2011, at 2:00 p.m., at the Scottish Rite Theater in downtown Long Beach. This original show brings back the golden era of 1930's Hollywood when audiences came to movies to laugh at the jokes, fall in love with bigger-than-life characters and escape reality for a little while. The talented team of Steven Davison and Ron Colvard serve as Creative Director and Music Director, respectively.

"Hollywood Hullabaloo 3: A Space Oddity" is an original, big, campy, musical comedy set in the Golden Age of 1930's Hollywood. The show returns with a third installment with characters from the previous incarnations of Hollywood Hullabaloo and adds a cavalcade of classic Hollywood stars to be spoofed. The show centers on Cecil B. DeMille's attempts to get his latest project, a science fiction film, into production. High-jinks ensue as DeMille's attempts to get his film underway are thwarted by mysterious malfunctioning props, a lovesick secretary, a not-so-silent film star whose only desire is to have her close-up and a threat that is not of this world. When all seems lost, DeMille is joined by Judy Garland, Shirley Temple and Liza Minnelli who, together, battle the evil Barbraella to save the studio and Earth as we know it! Its lights, camera and lots of action all the way to the end in this hilarious fun-filled journey that has been wrapped in diamonds and vodka, and spiced with heart, happiness, and high notes!
